The Senate rejected the nominations for postmasters of Thomas Faxon, Clarksonville, Pennsylvania, and Carlton S. Davis, Milton, Pennsylvania.

Shortly before 10 o'clock last evening a fire broke out in the boiler-room of the cabinet manufactory and saw-mill of Henry Volkening, located on the south-west corner of Pottys-seven-st. and Sixth-ave. Fed by the inflammable material with which the building was filled the flames rapidly mounted through it to the upper stories, and soon communicated with the adjoining buildings, also occupied by Mr. Volkening. A high wind was prevailing at the time, and in a short space the fire had crossed the avenue and caught the roofs of the buildings on the opposite side.

The Fire Department, under Chief-Engineer Kingsland, worked well, but their efforts were retarded by a lack of water. It was soon found that all efforts to save the buildings occupied by Mr. Volkening were useless, and attention was turned to the task of saving those adjoining. A pile of the high wind, which carried the flames in solid masses across the avenue, and the lack of water, the firemen persevered and fought back the advancing fire, and succeeded in saving the next building, Engine No. 22, at the commencement of the fire, had been placed in front of the burning building, but in a short time the heat became so intense that it was considered advisable to back down. A rope was hitched to Five buildings were destroyed and ten or twelve more less damaged, causing a total loss of about $20,000, and rendering many families homeless. The following is a partial list of the occupants, and their losses and insurances, as far as can be ascertained:

No. 822 Sixth-ave. was a five-story building, occupied

The first floor and basement by S. B. Leonard & Co., grocers. Their stock was completely destroyed. Loss about $6,000. Insured for $5,000 in the Firemen's Company. The four upper floors were occupied by Henry Volkening as a cabinet manufactory. He also occupied the two-story building Nos. 825 and 827 Sixth-ave. for the same purpose, and the one-story building No. 102 West Forty-seventh-st. as a marble-yard and saw-mill. All these buildings were consumed, the walls falling about 10 1/2 o'clock p. m. Mr. Volkening's loss about $35,000, and he is insured for $15,000, mostly in out-of-town companies. The buildings were owned by a Mr. Gessler, and were worth probably $25,000. Insured, but not by the same company. The first floor was occupied by a plumber and gas fitter. Loss by water ADOLPH RAY, 2201 First floor was occupied by George Tiesel as a meat market. Loss by fire and water on stock and fixtures about $1,200. The four upper floors were occupied by a number of families, who lose the most of their furniture, the interior of the building being burned out.

No. 321 was slightly damaged by water.

No. 822 is occupied on the first floor by H. Miller, dealer in boots and shoes. Loss on stock by water, $1,000. Insured. The four upper floors were occupied by several families, whose loss on furniture by fire and water is considerable.

No. 824 is occupied on the first floor by A. Schneider, tailor. A portion of his stock was removed. His loss on stock by fire and water is $1,500. Insured. The upper part of the building was occupied by families, whose furniture was badly damaged by fire and water.

No. 826 is occupied on the first floor and basement as a bakery by D. Waldnick, who occupies the upper part of the building as a dwelling. Loss on stock and furniture, $3,000. He also owns the building and the one adjoining, No. 828, which was very seriously damaged, the top floor and roof being burned off, and the remainder more or less damaged by fire and water. Loss on building about $8,000. Partially insured.

The first floor of No. 828 was occupied as a butcher shop by Joseph Bowronso, who also occupied the upper part Nos. 101, 102, 103, 107, and 109, on the upper side of West Forty-seventh-st., although several times on fire, were saved by the exertions of the firemen. The cornice, window casings, and doors were somewhat burnt and scorched, but no further damage was sustained. No. 101 is occupied by Joseph Rafael as a dwelling. Although adjoining one of the buildings completely destroyed, the residence of Mr. Rafael escaped with but slight damage.

John J. Corley, Assistant-Foreman Engine Company No. 25, was struck on the side by a falling plank from one of the burning buildings and badly injured. Several other firemen were more or less injured by falling brands. Sections of police were present from the Nineteenth, Twenty-second, and adjoining Precincts, under the command of Capt. Todd and Ward, and rendered efficient aid in keeping back the crowd and preventing pilfering.

At 5:1 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the livery stable of F. Launston White, Nos. 14 and 16 East Nineteenth-st. The building contained a quantity of hay, straw, and other inflammable material, and through this the flames ran with such rapidity that nothing of any value in the stable was saved. There were burned to death 11 horses belonging to Mr. White, 10 owned by other persons, 8 coaches, 3 sleighs, and a valuable lot of harness. Mr. White's loss he estimates at $10,000. The building.

$11,200, on which an insurance policy was issued, was completely destroyed, which was owned by E. Hoyt, was completely destroyed. The following persons are losers by the fire: G. W. C. Stock, two horses, harness, and a carriage, valued at $2,000—no insurance; William H. Perrine, two horses, a buggy, and harness, valued at $1,500—insured for that amount in the Commonwealth company; Dr. William Beaver, a horse, two buggies, and harness, valued at $400—no insurance; A. W. Craven, a horse, harness, and buggy, valued at $1,500—no insurance; L. Par, less and placed in the hands of a horse thief, who sold the horse, harness, and buggy, valued at $600. No insurance. A. Janich, three horses and harness, valued at $1,500. Insured for $1,000 in the Stuyvesant Company. The carpenter-shop of Wm. Mackenzie was damaged to the extent of $200 by fire and water. Not insured. No. 18 is occupied by Hugh Shields, manufacturer of harness. Loss about $1,000. Insured. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. John Carroll and Patrick Tucker were arrested by the Twenty-ninth Precinct on suspicion of having set fire to the place.

IN EIGHTH-AVE.
At 11 o'clock yesterday morning, a fire originated on the second floor of the tenement house No. 712 Eighth-ave., occupied by a number of families. The building was seriously damaged. The combined loss of the tenants amounts to about $1,500. Not insured. The building is owned by Robert Farmer, and is damaged to the extent of $1,000. Insured for $3,000 in the Park Company.

On last Thursday night the barn on the premises of Mr. John L. Glass, a farmer, living near Yonkers, Westchester County, was set on fire from the explosion of a kerosene lantern. About 30 tons of hay were burnt up with the building. Mr. Glass estimates his loss about $4,000, on which he has an insurance of $2,000.
